Community Update

Issue 28, March 2021

Peaceful views at Taranaki Retreat, proudly supported by Todd Energy

HELLO FROM TODD ENERGY...

Welcome to our first community update for the 2021 year – and what a busy and productive start to the year it's been. I trust this update finds you and your families safe and well.

Drilling at our Mangahewa G wellsite continues to make good progress. The team recently completed drilling the first of two wells, and have now moved Todd's Big Ben drilling rig in order to commence drilling of the second. We remain on target to complete drilling by April, after which well stimulation activities will commence. Our last drilling campaign at Mangahewa G in 2019 saw us achieve a 94% reduction in flaring, and we are targeting the same levels of success with our activities this year.

South Taranaki has been a hive of activity in the first few months of this year as we undertake scheduled maintenance and prepare for the increased production due later this year. Construction of the new stabiliser column at our Kapuni Production Station (KPS) has commenced following the recently completed civil and foundation works, and our KPS and Kapuni Gas Treatment Plant (KGTP) maintenance teams recently completed a 24-hour shutdown successfully and without incident.

Our new KPS carpark, completed at the end of last year, has already proven invaluable in managing the additional traffic and parking demands along Palmer Road, and it will continue to be useful as we progress our scheduled maintenance plan at KGTP throughout the year. Residents along Lower Duthie Road will have noticed civil works commencing at our KA-9/16 wellsite.

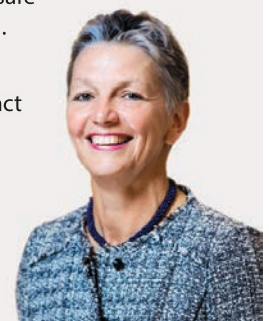

These works are in preparation for the arrival of the Nova-1 drilling rig, which is scheduled to drill a dedicated produced water well in late April.

By the time this community update makes its way to you, I will be in the final days of my time as Chief Executive at Todd Energy, which means that this is the last community update I provide. I have thoroughly enjoyed the last seven years at Todd, and have genuinely appreciated the relationships I have been able to build with so many our neighbours, landowners and community members – thank you. I will be remaining here in Taranaki to enjoy my retirement, so I am sure I will see some of you around.

Todd Energy's new Chief Executive, Mark Macfarlane, formally commences the role on Monday, 8 March, however he and I have been working closely together over the last couple of months to complete a thorough handover. Over the coming weeks you will have the chance to meet Mark at local community events, and I encourage you to introduce yourselves – he is very approachable, and keenly interested in community matters. Mark brings with him a wealth of international experience, and I believe Todd remains in safe and highly capable hands moving forward.

As always, if you have any questions or concerns about our activities, please contact the community team on 0800 001 007.

Kind regards
Joanna

Nexans Fun Run / Walk a hit in South Taranaki

The timing couldn't have been better for the Taranaki community when they came together for the 2021 Nexans Fun Run / Walk event in Kaponga in mid-February.

A number of event participants, who opted to walk the Fun Run / Walk event in Kaponga

With almost 200 people in attendance, the beautifully hot and sunny weather resulted in a fantastic event enjoyed by all said event organiser, Rebecca Gibson.

"We had a great day at this year's Nexans Fun Run / Walk event, with about 180 participants which was less than last year but still a reasonable turnout. We were incredibly lucky with the timing, given the shift back into COVID-19 Alert Level 2 later that same day.

"We're really grateful to Todd Energy for the generous contribution of our spot prizes, which were very well-received – one young runner won a snorkel and flippers, which he was wearing when he left. His mum says she thought he'd probably be wearing them to bed!"

Hannah Heberley, Community Partnerships at Todd Energy, says it's great to be able to support community events that promote getting active and giving things a go.

"The Nexans Fun Run series are popular events held right across Taranaki each year. We particularly enjoy being able to support the Kaponga event which does such a wonderful job of bringing the South Taranaki community together."

Proud sponsors of the Todd Energy Triathlon and Duathlon

Just prior to Christmas, the Taranaki Triathlon Club held its annual Todd Energy Triathlon and Duathlon event, with the event moving to Lake Ratapiko for the first time. In previous years, the event had been held in Waitara in North Taranaki.

The event was hugely successful with a fantastic number of participants, says Taranaki Triathlon Club President, Aaron Wood.

"The move to the new Ratapiko venue for the Todd Energy event was a winner. Weather conditions couldn't have been better and with just over 50 entrants, it was a bit of a boost on the previous year.

"Lake Ratapiko is a hidden gem of the region, so it's great to be able to show this venue to some new faces of the sport. A number of entrants completed their first triathlon, and everyone finished with a smile.

"We had a large contingent of Todd employees, which must have one of the fittest workplaces in New Plymouth! Thanks again to the Todd team for their support for the event."

As sponsors of the event, Todd Energy was pleased to help the Taranaki Triathlon Club make the event free to enter to enable people to get out and help improve their wellbeing says Jane Snowden, Todd Energy's General Manager, People and Community.

"We were thrilled that our support helped make the triathlon and duathlon event accessible to participants from all age groups and abilities, including those who were keen to give triathlon a go for the very first time."

New partnership with Big Brothers Big Sisters Taranaki

Children need trustworthy adults in their lives who will listen, take an interest in them and be there in times of need. For most children this need is met through family and family friends. For some children, however, this need is not met, and they struggle to grow and achieve their potential – and the Big Brothers Big Sisters (BBBS) mentoring programme has been developed for just these children.

BBBS began over 100 years ago in America and has grown into the most widely established and reputable mentoring organisation in the world. In Taranaki, the programme is currently operating in New Plymouth, Waitara, Inglewood, Stratford and Hawera, and there are currently over 100 matches between young people, aged between six and 18, and their volunteer mentors.

The mentoring programme works because it's fun, says New Plymouth Police Youth Project Leader and BBBS Programme Manager, Senior Constable Paul Lampe.

"The key is the young person knows that the (older) person accepts them for who they are, they don't have to put on a mask and try to be someone else. The adult gets as much out of the relationship as the young person by knowing their support and attention is appreciated – they are learning from each other, through a tuakana teina (older person-younger person) relationship.

"Obviously, a huge part of the mentoring programme's success comes down to our amazing community and the support we receive, from our volunteers through to our sponsors.

"We are excited to begin a partnership with Todd Energy, our new primary sponsor, and have plans on how to grow the number of matches over next few years."

Jane Snowden, General Manager, People and Community, and Todd Energy, says it's fantastic to be able to support Big Brothers Big Sisters Taranaki and the incredible work they do in the community.

"It's so important that we do what we can for our young people here in Taranaki, and Big Brothers Big Sisters' mentoring programme is just such a great example of this – especially for those who might benefit from that little bit of extra support and attention from a caring adult.

"Partnering with Big Brothers Big Sisters Taranaki is a great opportunity for Todd, and we look forward to working with the team over the coming years."

Introducing Ngāti Rāhiri Hapu's new office building and community hub

Ngāti Rāhiri Hapu are one step closer to realising their vision of ensuring access and connectivity for their members and for the wider community thanks to the purchase of a building in Waitara which is being turned into a new office space and community hub.

The office and community hub will enable our members and the community to connect in ways which have previously been unavailable says Peter Priest, Ngāti Rāhiri Hapu Chair.

"With help from Todd Energy, we have been able to help the hapu enter the digital age with much-needed electrical upgrades for our new office space, and the installation of modern, fit-for-purpose IT solutions.

"Many hapu members live outside the region, or internationally, making it difficult for them to continue to connect.

"Now, with the new office facilities, users can complete online learning, hold hui and communicate with others via multi-communication platforms like Zoom or Skype, meaning we can communicate collectively.

"This is such a positive step forward for our members, and we really appreciate Todd Energy's ongoing help and support."

Dave Riley, Community Partnerships Manager at Todd Energy, says the new office and community hub is a fantastic facility.

"We very much value our relationship with Ngāti Rāhiri Hapu, and recognise that facilities such as this new office building and community hub make a meaningful and positive contribution not only to the success of Ngāti Rāhiri and its members, but also to the wider Waitara community."

Getting behind the incredible team at Taranaki Retreat

The team at Taranaki Retreat, a community sanctuary offering a time-out space and help for people when times are tough, will be able to support even more individuals thanks to Todd Energy, who has provided support for the continuation of the Retreat's hugely successful Life Coaching Programme.

Already, our Life Coaching Programme has proven to be life-changing for so many of the individuals and families who have been through it says Jamie Allen, Taranaki Retreat's Executive Officer.

"The programme is simple in its approach, focussing on increasing levels of self-awareness and self-acceptance, and empowering individuals to take control of their own emotional state, and while it was already very popular it has only become more sought after following last year's COVID-19 pandemic and lockdown periods."

Liz Fry, Programme Coordinator, said she was blown away when she heard the news that Todd Energy had chosen to offer sponsorship for the Retreat's Life Coaching Programme.

"I am super passionate about the work of Taranaki Retreat and the results that the Life Coaching can bring. Therefore, to have Todd Energy join the journey and get behind the Retreat's fresh way of looking at suicide prevention, not only does it make my heart sing, but it will literally be saving lives.

"There are no words that can say thank you for that."

Todd Energy's General Manager, People and Community, Jane Snowden, says the work Taranaki Retreat does in the community is invaluable.

"The Retreat is and has always been an absolute gem in the Taranaki community, providing space, support and guidance to those who may be struggling with their mental health, for whatever reason.

"Now more than ever, there is genuine need for accessible mental health and wellbeing support in our community.

"We're so pleased to be able to continue with this meaningful partnership, supporting Jamie, Suzy, Liz and the team in ensuring the Retreat can continue to offer the Life Coaching Programme to those in the community who need it most."
