

Sustainability in our communities

Todd Energy is proudly committed to providing affordable and reliable energy to all New Zealanders.

It is important to us to make a positive and sustainable contribution, supporting, enabling and co-creating opportunities that directly benefit the communities where we operate.

For Todd Energy, being a sustainable business means combining a long-term focus, profitability, and social and economic community enhancement.

If you'd like to talk to Todd Energy about support for a community initiative that you feel fits within our core areas of focus, please contact our Community Partnerships team: community@toddenery.co.nz

OUR CORE AREAS OF FOCUS

Community wellbeing

Creating connected and inclusive communities, ensuring Taranaki is a vibrant place to live and work with a great quality of life for all.

Tangata whenua o Taranaki

Standing alongside tangata whenua, working meaningfully with local iwi and hapū to achieve positive outcomes together.

Child and youth wellbeing

Prioritising the mental health, physical and emotional wellbeing of children and young people across Taranaki.

Environment and biodiversity

Having a positive impact on our local environment, carefully managing our approaches to water and waste and working closely with our communities to increase biodiversity across Taranaki.

Education and training

Promoting and increasing access to education and training opportunities, with a particular focus on science, technology, engineering and industry trades.

The energy industry

Having a positive and enduring impact on the energy industry in New Zealand, supporting initiatives that raise the profile of the industry, reduce emissions, increase energy education and reduce energy hardship.

OUR OPERATING PRINCIPLES

Create value

Maintain high standards of conduct

Care for the community and environment

Value people
